

Professor John Webster. Born 25 May 1925.
1943-5. University College, Nottingham.
1945. 1st class Honours Botany, University of London (External).
1954. Ph.D. University of London (External).
1970. D.Sc. University of London (External).
1969-1985. Head of Department of Biological Sciences, University of Exeter.
1985-1990. Professor of Biological Sciences, University of Exeter.
1990- present. Professor Emeritus.
1969 and 1996. President of the British Mycological Society.
1971. Secretary, 1st International Mycological Congress at the University of Exeter.
1977-1983. Vice-President of the International Mycological Association (I.M.A.)
1983-1990. President of I.M.A
1990-present. Honorary Life President of I.M.A
1996. Awarded the Ainsworth medal by the I.M.A.
Honorary member of the British Mycological Society and the Mycological Society of America
Numerous publications including Introduction to Fungi 1971, 1980 and 2007 (with R.W.S. Weber) and Fungal Ecology 1994 (with N.J. Dix).
Research interests include ecology and taxonomy of pyrenomycetes on grasses, coprophilous fungi, Ingoldian and aero-aquatic fungi and the mechanism of ballistospore discharge.
Teaching interests include collaboration with the Institut für den Wissenschaftlichen Film, Göttingen of several mycological films and two video-disks, Mycology I (Lower Fungi) and Mycology II (Higher Fungi), re-issued in 2006-7 in C.D. and D.V.D. format by IWF Wissen und Medien gGmbH.